Academic Dress

1. The Chancellor

The CHANCELLOR wears a gown made from black satin damask and having facings, down each side in front, and a square collar at the back of the same material. The gown is trimmed with gold lace and ornaments as shown on Attachment I. With this gown is worn a black mortar-board cap with a gold tassel and a gold lace edging.

2. The President and Vice-Chancellor

The PRESIDENT and VICE-CHANCELLOR wears a gown made from maroon damask and having facings, down each side in front, and a square collar at the back of the same material. The gown is trimmed with gold lace and ornaments as show on Attachment II. With this gown is worn a maroon mortar-board cap with a gold tassel and a gold lace edging.

3. The University Bedel

The UNIVERSITY BEDEL wears a gown and cap as shown in Attachment III. When carrying the Mace, the Bedel wears white leather gloves.

4. Doctors

The undress costume for DOCTORS, including the Doctor of Ministry, is the Master's gown made from black silk. The full dress costume is an Edinburgh pattern doctorate gown made from maroon broadcloth and having facings, down each side in front and on the sleeves, and sleeve-linings of corded silk of the colour distinctive of the degree. For example, the full dress costume for Doctors of Philosophy is an Edinburgh pattern doctorate gown in maroon with white silk facings as shown on Attachment IV. Doctors wear a black cloth mortar-board cap with a gold tassel.

5. Masters

The gown for recipients of the MASTER's degree, including the M.T.S., the M.R.E., and the M.Div., is made from black silk and has sleeves of the pattern customarily used to indicate this degree. Masters wear a black cloth mortar-board cap with a black tassel.

6. Bachelors

The BACHELOR'S gown, and the gown for M.D. recipients, is made from black stuff and has open pointed sleeves. Bachelors wear no headgear.
